If the company has more than one auditor, they must prepare a unified report according to the law.

Article (46)

The fiscal year of the Company shall commence on the first of January and end on December 31st of each year, except the first fiscal year which shall commence from the date of its final incorporation and end on December 31st of the following year.

Article (47)

The Auditor shall have authorities and obligations as stated in the Law of Commercial Companies. In particular, he shall have the right of access at all times to all books, records and documents of the Company, and to request any information as he may deem necessary. He shall also have the right to verify the assets and liabilities of the Company.

In the event that he is obstructed to exercise these authorities, he shall report this in writing to the Board of Directors and Such report shall be presented to the General Assembly. He may also call a meeting of the General Assembly for this purpose.

Article (48)

The Auditor shall submit to the General Assembly a report stating as to whether the balance sheet and profit and loss account represent fairly the actual financial position of the Company; whether the Company keeps proper books of accounts, whether an inventory was conducted in accordance with the established practices; whether the information given in the report of the Board of Directors is in agreement with the books of the Company; whether contraventions of the Law affect the Company's function or financial position; and whether such contraventions are, to the best of his knowledge, still standing.

The Auditor, Being an agent to all shareholders, shall be responsible for the accuracy of the information contained in his report and any shareholder may, during the General Assembly meeting, discuss and request clarification of the content of his report.

¹ Article (45) : Amended per Extraordinary General Assembly meeting No. 28 held on 1/4/2013.

Article (49)

A certain percentage to be determined by the Board of Directors should be deducted from the gross profits to meet the depreciation of the Company's assets or to counter-balance the devaluation of such assets. Such amounts shall be utilized for the purchase or repair of material, equipment and premises needed. These funds may not be distributed to shareholders.

Article (50)¹

The net profit shall be distributed in the following manner:

First:

10 percent shall be set aside for statutory reserves. The General Assembly may discontinue this if the statutory reserve increases to more than half of the capital of the Company.

Second:

Another 10 percent shall be set aside for voluntary reserve. Such percentage may be discontinued by a resolution from the General Assembly upon a recommendation by the Board of Directors.

Third:

A portion of the net profit, to be fixed by the General Assembly, shall be set aside to meet the Company's obligations as provided for in the labor law.

Fourth:

A sufficient amount to be allocated for the distribution to the shareholders of the first dividends amounting to 5 percent of the value of their shares.

Fifth:

Thereafter, a certain percentage to be determined by the General Assembly not exceeding 10 percent of the balance shall be allocated as remuneration to the Board of Directors.

Sixth:

The balance shall be distributed to the shareholders as additional dividends, or, upon a recommendation by the Board of Directors, shall be carried forward to the following year or kept as extraordinary reserve or depreciation account.

Seventh:

The company may, upon the proposal of the Board of Directors and the approval of the Ordinary General Assembly, distribute interim dividends on a semi-annual basis. It is also permissible to pre-authorize the Ordinary General Assembly of the Board of Directors to distribute interim dividends on a semi-annual basis, provided that this distribution is from actual profits in accordance with the generally accepted accounting principles and without prejudice to the paid-up capital of the company.
